Methods for verifying learning outcomes and assessment criteria

Learning outcomes presented above are verified as follows:

Lecture: formative assessment: during the lectures short discussions are conducted to check the effectiveness of the learning process to allow professors to adapt the teaching pace to students' actual capabilities and allow the students to see the scope of knowledge they were able to acquire during the class; the colloquium between the third and fourth lecture containing minimum 5 questions. Minimum score to receive lecture credit is 51%. Summary assessment: the level of obtaining relevant knowledge is summarized in the colloquium at the last lecture, i.e., the cross-sectional test which contains 15 questions. Minimum score to receive lecture credit is 51%.

Tutorials: formative assessment: skills acquired during seminars are verified both based on partial tasks carried out by students. The formative mark is based on the student's presentation prepared in teams and presented between fourth and fifth lecture and based on the colloquium schedules in the second part of the semester. Minimum score to receive formative assessment credit is 51%. Summary assessment: the final mark is the average of two partial marks obtained by students during the semester; each of the partial mark must be higher than 50% of points.
